There are still openings for Teen Tech Week, which takes place August 12 through August 16. Participants will receive 30 hours of evaluation and/or training on computer equipment for taking notes, downloading and reading textbooks, and creating documents. Also, Blind & Vision Rehabilitation Services of Pittsburgh is offering a FREE program that provides students with work experience, job readiness skills, and computer-based pre-vocational training. Any high school student with a disability who lives in Allegheny County is welcome to participate. Enrollment is limited, so please contact us ASAP if you have students who might want to participate. This program serves as a supplement to instruction that students already are receiving in school, and will run through December 2013.
